Answer correctly: 1+1=?

In the realm of architectural design, there has been a historical focus on meeting human needs while overlooking environmental impacts. The construction industry, consuming nearly half of the world's raw materials, faces significant waste challenges, notably from demolition and construction debris. Recognizing this issue, the experienced architects at Studio8 devised a solution: Matterpieces.

Matterpieces represents a novel circular approach to construction. It repurposes demolition waste into premium cladding materials for walls, floors, furniture, and more, utilizing materials such as disca...
