Power it battery

And it will be energy dense and powerful. 3 - 4x more than current battery technology -- as well as fast-charging. It will be revolutionary and it will play a significant role in decarbonizing our world.

Every industry gets upgraded over time. While current technology allows us to explore the possibilities, it won't allow us to reach our potential to truly change the world.

Revolution Power Inc. dba Powerit is an aluminum-ion battery developer and electrode manufacturer working beyond lithium to meet the specific market needs of an energy-hungry world.

Our focus on non-lithium battery technologies allows us to mitigate global supply chain constraints, increase performance over existing battery technologies, drive down the cost of production, and improve overall battery safety.
