

Power outages seoul

Some roads were closed due to the storm, and local media is reporting at least one death and at least five injuries from a weather-related car pileup on an expressway outside the city.

Pedestrians walk through the center of Seoul, where snow is falling. More than 16 centimeters of snow blanketed the South Korea's capital Seoul on November 27, marking the biggest snowfall in November since modern weather observations began in 1907, the Korea Meteorological Administration (KMA) said. The new record coincided with the first snow of the season in Seoul. (SOPA Images/Reuters.

Citing South Korea's Ministry of the Interior and Safety, the Associated Press is reporting an additional death in the town of Yangju, which occurred when a tent-type garage collapsed on a person who was attempting to clear the snow.
